MARGARET HANNAH ENTERTAINS LITTLE FRIENDS.

The Current is always glad to chronicle the parties of its many little friends and especially one so pleasant and well attended as the one which met to help celebrate the sixth birthday anniversary of Margaret Hannah, at the home of her parents in northwest Carlsbad.

The little girl received a large number of presents from her little friends and a delightful afternoon was spent, closed by the serving of delicious cake and fruit gelatine topped off with whipped cream.

Those present were: Allen and Belva Dickson, Gertrude Bell, Agnes Carter, Kathryn and Frances Riley, Mary Mullane, Ellen Hitchcock, Dorothy Hiller, Evelyn and Mary Kathryn Kircher, Ola Mae Montgomery, Margaret Beckett, Sue Catherine Williams, Jennie Stennis, Ione Cotten, Virginia McAdoo, Mercedes Henry Dickson, Wm. Last Saturday the members of the "O. F." class of the Methodist church Sunday school taught by Miss Ellsworth, decided to surprise their teacher by walking out to her house near Otis and spending the day. Accordingly coats and jumpers were hastily donned and the hike was begun. When about half way, however, the fun began to give out and after consultation the girls entered a convenient farmhouse and telephoned their teacher to come after them. She did so and the remainder of the trip was made in her car and the girls agree that it was much more comfortable than walking. They spent the rest of the day at the hospitable home and were brought to town in the evening but their last words to their teacher and her mother were, "When may we come again?"

During the high wind of Tuesday afternoon the sign in front of the barber shop on Canyon street was blown over and broken off. Some idea of the force of the wind may be gained from that fact. The day was like the old times former experienced in the Valley, when sandstorms were the rule rather than the exception. With the increased cultivation and verdure, the sandstorms have become rare.

Miss Nauert, of St. Louis, is the new milliner in charge of that department at the Joyce-Fruit store. The young lady comes well recommended in her line and has a charming personality and will no doubt prove very helpful to Carlsbad ladies in their spring millinery purchases.
